A. W. Edwards left yesterday for the Castle Hot Springs to be present at the fall and winter opening of that splendid resort, which will take place tomorrow. Several guests are at the place, arriving recently from the eastern states.

Road Bids Considered.

At a special session of the board of supervisors yesterday the road question between Mayer and Pine Flat was considered and bids were opened. The only bidder was Sines & Rockmark, their price being $3,250. It was taken under advisement. The board signified its willingness to let the contract when certain agreements stipulated at other interested points were complied with in a certain sum of money being tendered that was previously authorized.

Meets With Accident.

While sawing a strip of lumber at the planing mill yesterday, A. J. Head had the misfortune to meet with a serious accident, having the first two fingers of his right hand badly cut through the bone by a buzz saw. He says that the strip was cutting buckled and a slip occurred, sending his hand against the saw. He had been at the trade for over 35 years and thinks that it is peculiar that after so long a time he should fall a victim to an accident of this character.

Fine Product.

Yesterday a sample of the potato yield from the farm of Dolly and Wynkoop was received in the city that outclasses anything in that line ever seen in Prescott. The two "spuds" that are on exhibition in the Journal-Miner office, show the prolific character of the soil and the wonderful growth of each commodity. They are freaks in construction and the combined weight of the two potatoes is over six pounds. They are of the Peerless variety and were raised through dry irrigation principles on the ranch of the above firm on Miller creek, less than two miles to the west of the city. This farm was formerly owned by John Smith. A box of this product was sent to the territorial fair last night by Commissioner Johns. One of these articles is practically three potatoes grown into one, while the other is of immense size and bulges in knots and is distorted in shape, both forming one of the most unique creations of nature that have ever come from the soil.

Conditions are reported by the Wingfields as prosperous in that valley.

EXPECTS TO LAND PHOTOGRAPHY PRIZE

Prescott Man Sends Exhibit to the Territorial Fair

(From Saturday's Daily.)

It is the purpose of T. H. Bate, the photographer, to win the first prize in photography at the coming Territorial fair at Phoenix and incidentally to retain his excellent reputation as an artist that was awarded him at the last fair. To this end he sent to the Capital City last night the finest display of his ability that was ever turned out of his studio and those who inspected the varied collection pronounce the work as the equal of any that has ever left the city and one that will compare favorably in an artistic sense with that of any city on the coast.

The character of his work is strikingly shown in various methods. The sepia-bromide enlargement of Thumb Butte, Crater canyon, near Castle Hot Springs, and Cataract canyon, leading into the Grand Canyon, were typically realistic of those attractive Arizona scenes, each of which was encased in mission frame work fourteen by seventeen inches.

Another case five by six feet contained platinum prints, with wash drawing effects in sepia and black and white. In this huge panel there were eight different phases of the art, all portraying figure effects and child study, each photo carrying the personality of a resident of Prescott.

In sending this beautiful assortment of his work Mr. Bate says that he is complying with the rules of the exposition management in photography, which require the most artistic figure piece, the most artistic child study and Arizona scenes to be forwarded. The collection and the ability of this young artist that goes south is creditable and no doubt it will attract the attention it deserves.

PLACER MINING IS GOING ON NEAR ARIZONA CITY

Work Being Done On Small Scale With Good Returns

(From Saturday's Daily.)

What is believed to be a veritable El Dorado in placer gold deposits is the strip of ground located in and around Arizona City on Big Bug creek. Practically between 300 and 400 acres in the zone that is being worked and in some instances as high as $15 per day to the man is being taken out, the returns coming from the rich streaks that are dug into.

All points are producing, nevertheless along the banks of the stream as well as on the mesa above and some distance away, the soil is being sluiced, rocked and carted to convenient points for working. The original find was on a low lying strip of ground alongside of the railroad track and one channel was mined at that point that yielded heavily, creating the lively interest that is now prevailing at other points adjacent.

The best ground is said to be held by Frank Averill and a man named Woods, both of whom are making a fine showing. George Bashford and Patrick Grant at another point are also said to be meeting with good success. Several others whose names could not be learned are also at work and in many instances the miners are making more than wages, all depending upon the facilities they employ. The depth to bedrock reaches ordinarily but six feet, while in many cases a few feet is all that is necessary. The soil is favorable and the only obstacle to washing the gravel is the absence of water. Crude appliances are used and in some cases the time consumed in reaching the point to handle the product is greater than the mining of the ground. One of the above firms has erected a large tank with sluice box attachments, and it works to better advantage than the others. Some are compelled to fill barrels at the spring nearby and then roll the water to the place where it is desired to rock the gravel. Another has a small pipe to bring the water to the ground.

It is known that last week several hundred dollars in a fine grade of gold was washed out under these primitive conditions, and those knowing the auriferous character of the soil say that the coming winter should see a heavy yield from that small field when water can be had in abundance.

AIRSHIP ACCIDENT.

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 5.—Lieutenants Lahm and Humphries met with a slight accident in the Wright aeroplane while endeavoring to turn a few feet above the ground. The engine worked slowly and the left plane touched the ground. The machine lurched, breaking the plane on the right side but neither of the aviators was hurt.

The Swine or the Flower?

Oh me! I saw a huge and loathsome sty,
Wherein a drove of wallowing swine were barred,
Whose banquet shocked the nostril and the eye;
Then spoke a voice, "Behold the source of LARD!"
I fled, and saw a field that seemed at first
One glistening mass of roses pure and white,
With dewy buds 'mid dark green foliage nursed;
And as I lingered o'er the lovely sight,
The summer breeze that cooled that Southern scene,
Whispered, "Behold the source of COTTOLENE!"

"Nature's Gift from the Sunny South"

COTTOLENE is a pure and wholesome frying and shortening medium, made from refined cottonseed oil. There is not an ounce of hog fat in it to make food unwholesome, greasy and indigestible. As evidence of its superiority, COTTOLENE received Grand Prize (highest possible award) at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition.

tion; and Gold Medals (also representing highest awards in each case) at the Charleston Exposition, the Paris Exposition, and the Chicago World's Fair. In fact, in every case where COTTOLENE has been exhibited in competition with other cooking fats, it has invariably been granted the highest award.
